

Pinhas and Sons is amongst Israel's most unique and intriguing bands, creating a new Israeli sound out of groove and harmonies from vast ethnic worlds.

Pinhas & Sons is a group of 8 players and a singer, led by founder and composer Ofer Pinhas. The group doesn't fall into one musical category but rather it's signature sound comes from their energetic, experimental, humoristic, and eclectic approach.

The band had started its way in 2015, since then had released two studio albums, one live concert album and currently working on their third studio album. The group had performed in prestigious stages across Israel, one of which is the Red-Sea Jazz festival last year and throughout the years had collaborated with Israel's top artists.

The band is also known for its unique relationship with their fan base, that is actively contributing to the band's music, on and off stage. This relationship gave birth to many out-of-the-box projects, one of which is the band's second album, that was recorded in a live session together with an orchestra formed solely by fans.

Pinhas & Sons live performance is somewhere between a rock concert, a dance party, and a classical concert. It is a blend of African and Balkan grooves, Latin melodies, Arabic Maqams, Classical influences and jazz improvisation all together, all tied up as seemingly ordinary songs with a verse and chorus.

Why Japan?

Over the last year, the band had received an overwhelming attention from Japanese audience, that had all begun with a small article about the band on a Japanese blog. From then on, other blogs had mentioned the band and we are constantly being contacted by Japanese audience that buy our records, merch and are interested to know more about the band. Since then, this has been a dream of ours to reach the Japanese audience as directly as possible, something that due the pandemic had become increasingly harder.
