

^{THE} OTHERNESS

THESE MANY MISTAKES

AVAILABLE 6 OCTOBER ON ALL DIGITAL PLATFORMS

THE OTHERNESS is a rock band from the deepest end of America.

Martin and Gon started to play music and write songs together since they were kids in Comodoro Rivadavia –the capitol of wind in La Patagonia. Pablo joined them later on drums in Buenos Aires and finally, Nico completed the line-up on lead guitar in Berlin during the pandemic of 2020.

The boys have relentlessly toured in the grassroots circuits of the UK and Europe and have gained significant support from the audiences and rock press all over the regions. This undiluted passion for music also shows in a wide range of multicultural hostels, sick and urgent trains' connections and all sorts of meal deals that feed human experiences – the ones to be only sorted out as a tight group – in a world of narcissism and individualism here's a collective of young people that still believes that the whole is greater than the sum of its parts.

HOW? WHY? First of all ORIGINAL TUNES. Steve Lamacq himself recommends the group among the best new bands to follow on BBC 6 Music.

The Otherness' music is melodic and edgy, intense and meaningful and they actually play their instruments.

Throughout the experience of playing together, they have honed a very clear style of sweet and punchy tracks.

#exciting #upbeat #infectious

"Authentic, quality, passionate rock, these guys really mean it."

(Chris Hawkins, BBC 6 Music)

"Weezer alt.rocking to The Beach Boys."

(Damian Jones, NME)

NME

In October 2021 the band released its 12 track debut album entitled "LMIRL" (Let's Meet In Real Life) with great reviews in the UK press and fine radio airplay on Radio Eins, Fritz Radio, SiriusXM, DC101 and US college radios.

"The Otherness' "Bit of Fun" is Rodney Bingenheimer's personal pic on Little Steven's 'Coolest Songs in the World' this week!"

((Siriusxm™))
SATELLITE RADIO

In 2022 they released a 4 track EP recorded in Berlin, produced in Buenos Aires with Gaspar Benegas and mastered at Metropolis London by Felix Davis.

“A New Resistance” songs provide the listeners with a cool mix of joyful feelings and thought provoking lyrics.

The infectious energy of the group comes through with a mix of pop and rock styles of all ages, but with a fresh twist to it. You will find young cultural rebels challenging corruption, reflecting a society fighting for sex equality and also expressing defiant views on gun violence, corporative greed, climate change, bullying, apathy and the complex and beautiful intricacies of this generation.

Now, the boys have just completed a 3 months tour between May and July 2023 with gigs in Germany, Denmark, the Netherlands and England; and is currently mixing their sophomore album entitled “Broken Latitudes”.

The material for this upcoming release consists of 16 brand new songs being “These Many Mistakes” the 1st single and advance of the ever - evolving sound of the group.

The Otherness promotes the art of listening to each other – ways of interpreting and interacting with everything that is not identical or similar to us and is also free.

It is a shift from the self to the other in which we discover a satisfying feeling of happiness where the music is the link between the two.

“Hailing from Patagonia their thrilling self belief and dedication to their craft is hypnotic and now they have the tunes to back it up. The sheer craziness of what they are trying to do – swimming upstream in the 21st century against the flowing river of the pop zeitgeist means that they are probably right – all great culture is born out of defiance and in the end great melody and energy always wins the debate hands down.” (John Robb, LTW)

The Otherness will be releasing more singles until the end of this year and by April 2024 will announce a tour to support the new material with dates in Europe and the UK .

THESE MANY MISTAKES

If I am there for you, you'll find I was before

Whatever it takes these many mistakes –let's go!

You hear and you regret we do remember too

The sea cries and breaks the code of my aches –let's go!

Why do we keep our feelings shy? No one knows

Come and let's go flying, now like the wild wind blows

Whatever it takes these many mistakes...

We now do understand the paradox of youth

Like blood in the veins of chemical rains –let's go

Why do we keep our feelings shy? No one knows

Come on and let's go flying, now like the wild wind blows

In the dark and she knows

If I am there for you, you'll find I was before

Whatever it takes these many mistakes –let's go!

METADATA

Artist: The Otherness

Composer: Martin Cativa – Gonzalo Cativa

Publisher: Steam Music

Release date: 6 October 2023

Genre: Alternative Rock, Pop, Punk, Indie Rock

Tempo: 131 BPM

Mood: Uplifting, Energetic, Motivation, Confidence

PRS for Music Tunecode: 533851CN

Digital Distribution: Noisehive

This song was written by Martin and Gon during one of the recent EU tours of The Otherness. It has a bit of a retro sound - but is current at the same time.

The band worked remotely with the producer Gaspar Benegas across the Atlantic Ocean and the track was mastered by Felix Davis at Metropolis Studios in London.

The beatlesque vocal harmonies of the tune crackle with a thrilling energy in a passionate blend that stands out together with a solid rhythm section and catchy guitar licks.

The lyrics are pretty straight forward and address the longing for a change and the imperfection of human relationships and quests.

When you make mistakes you are experiencing the new and the most important thing is that you are actually doing something: you make new things because you try new things, and you learn new things because you live new things too.

You are pushing yourself into the new by changing your inner self. The world around you won't be the same after this either.

The spirit of this song aims at inspiring people to be not afraid of making mistakes - so don't be scared, go for it, whatever it is, and do it.

This is life and we have feelings and both entwined as art, are imperfect.

Contact: othernessmanagement@gmail.com

Phone: +49 1522 1331697 (GER), +54 9 1163076449 (ARG)

INSTAGRAM @the_otherness

TIK TOK @theotherness

TWITTER @the_otherness

YOUTUBE: @TheOthernessLMIRL

THE OTHERNESS

MOVE ON

“Dream up something to live for”

AVAILABLE 17 NOVEMBER ON ALL DIGITAL PLATFORMS

THE OTHERNESS is a rock band from the deepest end of America.

Martin and Gon started to play music and write songs together since they were kids in Comodoro Rivadavia –the capitol of wind in La Patagonia. Pablo joined them later on drums in Buenos Aires and finally, Nico completed the line-up on lead guitar in Berlin during the pandemic of 2020.

The boys have relentlessly toured in the grassroots circuits of the UK and Europe and have gained significant support from the audiences and rock press all over the regions. This undiluted passion for music also shows in a wide range of multicultural hostels, sick and urgent trains' connections and all sorts of meal deals that feed human experiences – the ones to be only sorted out as a tight group – in a world of narcissism and individualism here's a collective of young people that still believes that the whole is greater than the sum of its parts.

HOW? WHY? First of all ORIGINAL TUNES. Steve Lamacq himself recommends the group among the best new bands to follow on BBC 6 Music.

The Otherness' music is melodic and edgy, intense and meaningful and they actually play their instruments.

Throughout the experience of playing together, they have honed a very clear style of sweet and punchy tracks.

#exciting #upbeat #infectious

"Authentic, quality, passionate rock, these guys really mean it."

(Chris Hawkins, BBC 6 Music)

"Weezer alt.rocking to The Beach Boys."

(Damian Jones, NME)

NME

In October 2021 the band released its 12 track debut album entitled "LMIRL" (Let's Meet In Real Life) with great reviews in the UK press and fine radio airplay on Radio Eins, Fritz Radio, SiriusXM, DC101 and US college radios.

"The Otherness' "Bit of Fun" is Rodney Bingenheimer's personal pic on Little Steven's 'Coolest Songs in the World' this week!"

((Siriusxm™))
SATELLITE RADIO

In 2022 they released a 4 track EP recorded in Berlin, produced in Buenos Aires with Gaspar Benegas and mastered at Metropolis London by Felix Davis.

“A New Resistance” songs provide the listeners with a cool mix of joyful feelings and thought provoking lyrics.

The infectious energy of the group comes through with a mix of pop and rock styles of all ages, but with a fresh twist to it. You will find young cultural rebels challenging corruption, reflecting a society fighting for sex equality and also expressing defiant views on gun violence, corporative greed, climate change, bullying, apathy and the complex and beautiful intricacies of this generation.

Now, the boys have just completed a 3 months tour between May and July 2023 with gigs in Germany, Denmark, the Netherlands and England; and is currently mixing their sophomore album entitled “Broken Latitudes”.

The material for this upcoming release consists of 16 brand new songs being “These Many Mistakes” the 1st single and advance of the ever - evolving sound of the group. Now, “Move On” sets the tone for what’s to come in their near future.

The Otherness promotes the art of listening to each other – ways of interpreting and interacting with everything that is not identical or similar to us and is also free.

It is a shift from the self to the other in which we discover a satisfying feeling of happiness where the music is the link between the two.

“Hailing from Patagonia their thrilling self belief and dedication to their craft is hypnotic and now they have the tunes to back it up. The sheer craziness of what they are trying to do – swimming upstream in the 21st century against the flowing river of the pop zeitgeist means that they are probably right – all great culture is born out of defiance and in the end great melody and energy always wins the debate hands down.” (John Robb, LTW)

The Otherness will be releasing more singles until the end of this year and by April 2024 will announce a tour to support the new material with dates in Europe and the UK .

MOVE ON

Now, you feel the time has come

Oh yeah, now the time has come

I find too much understanding gone

Oh yeah, baby, please move on!

Dream up something to live for

Oh yeah, something to live for

Never mind the faulty things we've done

Oh yeah, baby, please move on!

When you feel you are done, you are not to blame

I feel the same –come on!

Let me tell you...

Go for it and carry on

Oh yeah, think and carry on

Leave behind the fears creeping at dawn

Oh yeah, baby, please move on!

We are not tied up to anyone

Oh yeah, baby, please move on!

METADATA

Artist: The Otherness

Composer: Martin Cativa – Gonzalo Cativa

Publisher: Steam Music

Release date: 17 November 2023

Genre: Alternative Rock, Pop, Indie Rock

Tempo: 161 BPM

Mood: Uplifting, Energetic, Motivation, Confidence

PRS for Music Tunecode: 582378AP

Digital Distribution: Noisehive

This song is one of the earliest compositions of the group – Martin and Gon started to write together in the neighborhood of San Telmo in Buenos Aires, before The Otherness got together as a band.

The music of the track is a modern rock take on a dance-pop sound –with a pulsating beat that is perfect for the catchy and memorable vocal melodies. The guitar riff sets the mood for a summer drive with the windows down and the spirits high.

The lyrics are direct and address the different layers of meaning behind the expression of the song title: let's leave the place where we are staying and go somewhere else, let's start something original, let's accept that a situation has changed and let's be ready to deal with new experiences.

“Move On” was always a fan favourite in the grassroots’ circuits of live music in the UK, and now the band is reciprocating the love with a new take on it that's full of joy and sheer optimism.

Contact: othernessmanagement@gmail.com

Phone: +49 1522 1331697 (GER), +54 9 1163076449 (ARG)

INSTAGRAM @the_otherness

TIK TOK @theotherness

TWITTER @the_otherness

YOUTUBE: @TheOthernessLMIRL