Eurovision, Studio Sessions, and Rockin' at The Black Stuff!

Luxembourg announced its return to the Eurovision song contest after 30 years on the sidelines and RTL media put out an open call for song contributions. Luxifer has answered that call with two submissions, a power-ballad called "I'm Back" and a pop-punk energy bunny named "European Resurrection".

Elli Spiropoulou (Έλλη Σπυροπούλου) 27-05-23

For our Greek-speaking supporters, which have been growing substantially in numbers over the last few months, Luxifer debut on Greek FM radio last week when Elli Spiropoulou on Alpha 989 interviewed John and played "Never Fail". It may be "all Greek" to some, but for the rest (or anyone hoping to learn a word or two in Greek) you can listen here. The interview starts at 1:32:50.

ARA City Radio - Interview With Luxifer

Local band Luxifer joined Tom in the studio this morning to launch their new single 'Killed' which is out today and to talk about their upcoming live show. Adam, Stefan, John and Veronika met online and have been making music that sits somewhere between shock rock, glam rock and punk rock. So far they have played concerts around Luxembourg's music bars and small venues scene including gigs at The Black Stuff, Crossfire and Vantage.

DB3 Show with Luxifer

Elvis, math rock, country, metal and punk are quite the range of influences but that's what the polyglot blend of Adam, John, Stefan and Veronica bring to the Luxifer table ... as well as a combined 9 languages! Now on their 3rd EP, they talk about their struggles to find gigs, ultimately following the advice Desdemonia's gave them on the show - keep knocking on doors! - and booking a series of upcoming shows around Luxembourg. Luxifer perform three live acoustic tracks including a The Weeknd cover.
