

SILENT ROGUES

Infectious rhythms. Mercurial guitars.
Driving bass grooves. Euphoric synth and vocals.

Silent Rogues are a fresh four-piece band from Cambridgeshire playing exciting new music that gets audiences moving.

Drawing on influences like Primal Scream, Django Django, Duran Duran, Kasabian, Tears for Fears and Jungle, Silent Rogues fuse driving indie grooves with a bouncy nod to an electro-pop past.

Since their debut to an impressive crowd at the St Neots Festival 24', the Rogues have gone from strength to strength, delivering mesmerising shows at venues across the region, including Bedford Esquires and The Six Six Bar Cambridge.

Info and bookings: silentroguesband@gmail.com

Jane Evans Photography

Meet the band...

Dan Cahill (vocals, guitar, synth)

Experienced frontman Dan Cahill is the band's chief lyricist and creative bedrock.

Bringing a wealth of experience from previous projects The Beautiful Sleazy and Dolls House Emporium, Dan is the foundation of Silent Rogues.

A restless creative, he's also a walking database of Alan Partridge-isms and a lover of cats, craft beer, and being an absolute sweetheart. If he was a type of cheese, he'd be Manchego.

Matt Sheath (lead guitar, vocals, synth)

Matt's guitar virtuosity is the icing on the Silent Rogues' cake. A music graduate, he's no stranger to the stage, cutting his teeth with local outfit Fellow Culprits.

An accomplished songwriter and a dab hand at creating memorable riffery, Matt also throws his shoulder into the Rogues' creative process, literally bringing the funk.

Quite the maverick, he eats Revels by the fistful. Orange, biscuit, caramel and coffee, all at the same time. Disgusting. Absolutely disgusting...

Will Fisher (bass)

Sausage-fingered Will Fisher is the baby of the band — musically speaking. But while his musical CV makes for light reading he knows how to lock in a groove, and considers himself the Rogues' answer to eye-candy, which is frankly preposterous.

Priding himself on his fat sound, Will just loves being part of the rhythm section of Cambridgeshire's hottest, newest band.

Quite the gastronome, Will was once described as 'walking foie gras' given his love of all things buttery. If he was a sausage, he'd be Käsekrainer.

Thom Paisley (drums, samples)

From his beat laboratory, Thom is the nerve centre of Silent Rogues. Thom earned his spurs with The Leaves, who built quite a following in London's Soho. He forms the Rogues' final creative cornerstone.

A supreme talent with a heart of gold, Thom has got the McDonalds in for rehearsals showing a generosity of spirit that's rare in today's world.

If he was a breed of dog, he'd be a Hungarian Vizsla. Sporty, svelte, irrepressible, and utterly dependable.

SILENT ROGUES | STAGE PLAN

- DAN VOCAL MIC, SYNTH (DI), FENDER AMP (MIC)
- MATT VOCAL MIC, SYNTH (DI), ORANGE AMP (MIC), VOX AMP (MIC)
- WILL BASS AMP HEAD AND CAB (DI / MIC)
- THOM DRUM KIT (MICS), SAMPLE PAD (DI), VOCAL MIC

Restlessly creative, Silent Rogues is developing new material to expand their exciting live show through 2025 and beyond.

silentroguesband@gmail.com www.facebook.com/silentrogues