Technical Limitations

The supplied stage plot and input list is ideal (19 inputs, 6 wedges with individual monitor mixes), but in case of technical limitations:

-Monitoring can be reduced to three wedges (two across the front, one in front of the drums) on a single mix.

-Inputs can be reduced to sixteen channels by 1) having Chris (the violinist) route his synth & vox through his violin channel & 2) having Ben (the guitarist) route his MIDI guitar and electric guitar through the same amplifier.

-If it's a small room and we're limited to twelve channels, you can remove the hi-hat and tom microphones from the drum kit in addition to the changes listed above.
