Released on 1st March 2015, Ragsys debut album Ouch!!! is a soulful blend of powerful vocals, beautiful acoustic melodies and heart-on-your-sleeve songwriting.

Taking inspiration from his own life experiences and finding catharsis in pouring his emotions into song, Ragsys heartfelt lyrics perfectly align with his raw, classic rock-inspired vocals. Crafted over a two-year period following his time on BBC's The Voice in 2013, mentored by Sir Tom Jones; Ouch!!! is a record of the highs and lows, where Ragsys distinctive voice tells an honest and impassioned tale of life's unpredictability.

The popularity of his uniquely re-worked versions of Walking In The Air and The Scientist have seen Ragsy make numerous appearances on Radio including The BBC for live sessions and interviews with influential broadcasters such as Mike Read, Lynn Bowles, Jamie Owen, Wynne Evans and Eleri Sion.

Through these performances and assured live shows at such esteemed events as Glastonbury, Wakestock, Brecon Fringe and Pontys Big Weekend, Ragsy has been building a loyal fanbase that will undoubtedly grow in even greater number when he tours in support of this debut - details of which can be found upon announcement on the Facebook and Twitter pages.

Ouch!!! will be released the 1st March on CD and also through all major download sites including iTunes and amazon, and is available to pre-order now, with a secret track the studio version of Feels Like Home, which was performed live exclusively on BBC Radio immediately accessible to those who pre-order it. But there's no need to wait until then to hear the inimitable sound of this talented singer-songwriter; visit youtube.com/RagsyMusic to enjoy a variety of high quality live recordings and music videos.
