The songs reflect current challenges we face in our daily lives from both aspects of humanity positive and negative.

Somebody Else is eager for bigger charts, live concerts, tours and much more: with their own all original music that makes people want to dance and sing and others think and reflekt. Somebody Else wants to bring back the feeling of authentic real music again.

The musicians met 2013 in the Berlin Jazz Club Quasimodo like sun and earth. After some concerts the lead singer Faisal Campbell and producer Tino Kowalewsky decided at Quasimodo to quit all other music projects so they could form the band Somebody Else in spring 2014. Somebody Else's musicians keep everything genuine: true skill, tight grooves, no playbacks, proper instruments, a lot of improvisation and intuitiv fine tuning. When Faisal Campbell unleashes his superb ability to freestyle to almost all kinds of music, the ones who have heard know that another new song is about to be born.
