(SOLO/BAND)

Richard Batty is a singer/songwriter from Liverpool, UK.
He writes and performs his own material in a mixture of acoustic, pop and rock styles.

BIO

In the past 15 years Richard Batty has come along way, from forming his first band Majestyk in 2000, to branching out into a solo artist, and having a residency at The Cavern Club, since 2009. Along the way he supported the likes of The Feeling, Lotus Eaters and Bruce Foxton of The Jam.

He's influenced by a wide range of music, some favourites include, The Beatles, Big Star, Television, and Buffalo Springfield.

In 2014, after focusing on his songwriting craft, Richard went to Whitewood Studios between May and December 2014, to record his debut release, the Loaded Gun EP, which was recorded using some digital equipment, and an analogue tape machine. It was subsequently mastered at Abbey Road Studios, London.

In June 2015, the record was released on CD, and digitally on iTunes, Spotify and Amazon. Loaded Gun, has already received national airplay and great praise from his fans.

REVIEW

"I'd been aware of the name Richard Batty for some time but hadn't heard any of his music until I managed to catch part of his solo set at the Unity's Liverpool Acoustic Festival back in February. I was impressed then and having listened to his new EP Loaded Gun (EP? Mini album? What is the difference?) I'm even more impressed. (...)
Loaded Gun is a well-crafted collection of seven songs from one of Liverpool's hidden gems and perfectly showcases singer-songwriter Batty's polished style of acoustic-driven pop."
