Bunny Suit was born on a former spy's houseboat in London, which after being converted into a live-in recording studio, slowly sank in the muddy waters of the Thames.

Having performed in everything from local clubs to 1800 capacity venues, festivals and European tours, the band moved to Berlin, where they quickly earned acclaim from the press and radio under their original name Quixote.

Relaunching under the name Bunny Suit, the collective of international musicians have incorporated trumpets, percussionists and dirty electronics in to their trademark avantgarde blues/trash compositions.

The band are currently booking gigs and festivals for the remainder of the year and plan to release new material in March.

*„Between Nick Cave and Tom Waits.....as despicable and bluesy as promised. 4/5“ - album review - Zitty Berlin

*„The dramatic, trickster-like nature of Tom Waits and the melancholy and vocal ease of Jeff Buckley...and then, just when you think you know where the song is going, they'll surprise you.“ Indie Berlin

*„An exquisite, chaotic and almost orchestral arrangement“ Star FM
