London based Alternative Rock/Dream Pop band OH LA KANADA have released their Debut EP. The EP features previously released singles 'Fantasy' and 'Paper Love', plus two more songs: 'Forward' and 'Frequency Hills'. Their EP Launch Gig is on the day of the release, at Notting Hill Arts Club in London, for which entrance is free.

While we're on the subject of free, OH LA KANADA's debut EP wasn't created with money, but with the support and help of their loving friends. They didn't look for the most famous, expensive, or renowned artists to work with them. They put trust and faith in their friends, who returned that favour. With this EP, they have proven you don't need money to make a record. All you need is a friend to do the recording and mixing, another to design the covers and videos, and all that's left is a group of friends to play the music. And as look would have it, a group of friends who play music is what they are. The OLK family cleverly fuse electronics with acoustics to create highly diverse, eclectic and danceable pop music. Combining loads of drums and percussion with melodic guitar, groovy bass, lush synths and dreamy vocals, they create bright and colourful music that resembles Canada's nature. OH LA KANADA was influenced by artists like Foals, Glass Animals, Metronomy, The Dø and many others. Their debut single Fantasy was received positively, gathering nearly near 15000 combined views in the first week. On top of that, it was featured on major Youtube channel 'A Beautiful Life Music'. Their second single 'Paper Love' will be featured on major music blog 'Indie Shuffle'.

OH LA KANADA initially started as an electronic duo, when guitarist Piotr Zegzula and singer/producer Karolina Sztolcman met in music college, helping each other out on music school assessments. They created barebones electronic music with dreamy guitars, resembling bands like Alt-J or The XX. Everything was done in Piotr's bedroom, but wanting to perform live, they brought in Jakub Rokosz as a drummer, and later Gui Trionfo, who share the drummer/percussionist position. Jakub, in turn, brought in Jesse Frelink to pick up bass, synths and backing vocals. Combined, they now represent three different nationalities and five completely different music backgrounds. This melting pot is the start to their unique sound.

OH LA KANADA continues to rehearse and work hard on new music, so you can watch them go mad on a stage near you very soon. They are a happy family, bound for the tricky life of superstardom.
