Formed in the summer of 2015, MATM embody those long, warm, hazy days of endless opportunity; beautifully pairing youthful innocence with apathy and worldliness. Tamara (vocals) and Jonny (Guitar) have already found favour from the indie scene, playing notable support slots for Marika Hackman, Flyte and Marsicans. After self-releasing 1st EP 'Run With Wolves' and follow-up single 'Get Away', the band began to receive continuous support from BBC Introducing with both tracks 'Run With Wolves' and 'Hold On' featured regularly and the band performing live for BBC Introducing at the John Peel Centre in Suffolk.

After 2017's signing to My Little Empire and stunning single 'Standing Still' (playlisted on Radio X and featured in Bandcamp's New & Notable showcase), February's "It's Alright" tour included 3x sold out nights in Guildford and Portsmouth (see FB for full schedule) and a support slot for Annabel Allum in at Camden Assembly. After further studio time with Matt Twaites and Dan White in April, the band have embarked upon a jam-packed summer schedule of UK festivals including sets at the Alternative Escape, plus support slots for Frank Turner and Lewis Watson, as well as opening the main stage at Victorious Festival.

'Me and The Moon are certainly ones to watch' - when the horn blows

'MATM are a band on the rise, and having already released two absolute bangers on DIY label My Little Empire Records, we're excited to hear what they conjure up in the near future' - the music blog 42

'Take elements of Fleet Foxes, Marika Hackman, Jake Morley, wrap them up with a white bow and a winning smile - that's MATM for you' - listen with monger

'Melancholic bop that has all the infectious vocal melodies and dreamy guitar chords you could ever want, the verse flows effortlessly into an explosive, anthemic chorus that instantly feels stadium-ready' - too many blogs
