Psycho & Plastic are a Berlin based duo with a passion for nonconformist electronic music. Regarded as 'underrated live performers' by Data Transmission, they are on a mission to reintroduce a sense of wonder and adventure to both the dance floor and the home listening experience.

Their fiercely independent spirit is not only embodied in their music, but also in their decision to operate their own label GiveUsYourGOLD. The latest release on the imprint is Psycho & Plastic's first full length album Kosmopop, a highly optimistic dance album with dark undertones, featuring a unique sonic palette of analogue synths, alien guitars, organic sequencing and otherworldly vocals. Kosmopop was recorded in seclusion in the East German town of Chemnitz and meticulously embellished and perfected in Psycho & Plastic's Berlin studios over a period of almost two years.

Heavily influenced by the 1st and 2nd summer of love - especially the mystical view on the wonders of inner and outer space from 1960s psychedelia, science fiction writing, and 1990s rave culture - the album is a musical discovery of an imaginary galaxy, its planets and inhabitants. As such, it also serves as a metaphor for the fearless exploration of the Unknown.

It was approved by popular San Francisco collective Honey Soundsystem and applauded by DJ Mag España with an 8.0. It also includes 'Planet Seductron', which was awarded 'single of the month' by Faze Magazin with a well deserved 10/10.

This release awarded them international attention, including a Canada-only re-release on COAX Records in the summer of 2018. Since then, 'Berlin's currently finest psychedelic electronica act' Psycho & Plastic are expanding touring activities beyond their German home turf. This has already lead them as far as British Columbia on the Canadian West Coast in 2018. But the adventure has just begun!
