

SHIVA AND THE HAZARDS – NEW SINGLE AND TOUR
PRESS RELEASE – FOR PUBLICATION FROM 1 AUGUST, 10 am
ANGKOR WAT NOT TO BE BROADCAST BEFORE 9 AUGUST WITHOUT PRIOR CONSENT

Shiva and the Hazards are excited to announce the release of their new single, ANGKOR WAT, which will be followed by their tour support for legendary shoe-gaze band, RIDE, on their first visit to Australia and New Zealand in 27 years, as well as 90s Brit Pop hit-makers, CAST.

Produced by Matt Redlich (Holy Holy, Husky) and mastered by Brian Lucey (Arctic Monkeys, The Black Keys), ANGKOR WAT is the Melbourne / London band's first follow up since their debut EP, Future Cult Classics, released only last year.

Future Cult Classics featured the single, East India Empress, which was produced by Chris Potter (The Verve, The Rolling Stones), and earned radio play on Triple J, Triple M and community radio in Australia, as well as BBC radio and independent radio in the UK.

BBC radio's Gary Crowley described the track as "Impressive stuff and a real Brit Pop tinge... a cracking debut single", with Triple J's Declan Byrne calling it "a dreamy psych expanse".

Combining the vintage guitar sounds of Jefferson Airplane and Jimi Hendrix Experience with acid laced grooves of early Tame Impala, ANGKOR WAT sees Shiva and the Hazards further develop their trans-Atlantic inspired sound with a dose of distinctly Australian psychedelia.

Shiva and the Hazards will play the following shows this August, September and October.

Sat 31/8 – PERTH, Astor Theatre*
