

'Bullet Head' by Fangclub (Dublin, Ireland)

Fangclub's 'Bullet Head' may just be one of my favorite releases in quite some time. Its punky, thrashy and under 2 minutes in length. The band from Dublin have embraced the garage/punk genre with ease. This is a band you want to see in a small venue that's been packed up to the rafters, their music echoing and pouring out into the streets. Their music is about a "moment", mainly, that beautiful and wonderful moment where you feel like the world outside of the venue has ceased to exist. 'Bullet Head' supplies you with that moment, listening to it now makes me wish I were seeing them in one of those dingy yet lovely venues. For right now, this song is all I know of Fangclub but hopefully we'll be experiencing more of them in the near future. [Free Download] @LeahDingus
