

The German based Electronic / Techno live act

DEFECT DATA

got a early start into music at the young age of 15.

Before developing his own music he played for more than 10 years as a DJ in various Techno clubs and events in and around Germany.

In 2003 he began also experimenting with various analog sound machines in search of a truly distinct new sound.

* something that sounds like a sweet sensation that is coming from the unknown deep from the outer space.*

He decided in 2005 to quit vinyl DJ sets and set the focus on developing as a producer and live act. some time ago he started the project DEFECT DATA which presents an original and unique sound of intelligent dance music.

Since 2012 he's played live shows across Europe by using analog equipment only.

now he is set the focus in 2020 to continue playing Live shows as well to release his debut album "I Told My Therapist About You" on his own new record label "Freakbitch Music"
