SINGER- SONGWRITER

Music Styles

In 2016 she took a brief break from her music career due to giving birth to her daughter and in 2017 she's back with a new self-published, trilingual album with songs in Hungarian, French and English. Boggie is solely responsible for all the songwriting on the album. The birth of her daughter has admittedly changed her songwriting, she sounds much more confident and as a result, the new album is excitingly diverse. Boggie's musical world is a great mixture of classical music, jazz, it even has some world music elements and a huge influence from French pop music.
