Rock Music has been overshadowed by Hip Hop and popular music; its glory today is half of what it used to be some years back. Enki Thing, a band of four musicians and songwriters has vowed to turn the tables and return Rock Music where it has always been: at the top of the list.

Enki Thing is looking for a producer or a record company to sign their albums. Their music is inspired by icons and legends of Rock Music such as The Doors and David Bowie. Enki Thing is a splendid musical act who have climbed the ropes of trials and tribulations. They have been able to succeed through tests of growth in a cutthroat environment. After a lot of hard work and hardships, Enki Thing has successfully released their stunning album titled Divinity. It is an independently created authentic masterpiece. The group has been part of other collaborative work, creating more than 30 singles and tracks as part of their three albums, and are intending to get signed on a label for production of future releases.

Noting that Rock Music is currently not what it used to be some few years back, Enki Thing sees Hip Hop and Mainstream Pop as the main competitors and they are ready to face the challenge putting the Rock Music where it belongs. “We are geared towards revolutionizing the genre, taking the music to the glorious days of Glam Rock, a time when big stars such as David Bowie and Supertramp used to rule the airwaves and dancehalls. We are on that journey, giving our fans music that is entertaining, exciting and above all memorable,” said the representative of the band and explaining their journey.

With their new album Divinity the group is doing just that, they are telling a story and creating magic with every unique and iconic single they produce. Their music is available at leading streaming outlets including Spotify. They’d love you to join them in their revolution so follow them on Facebook, YouTube, or Instagram!
